hammock and had grabbed a shirt which I started to put on. One of the fellows near me shouted "Hey, that's my shirt so I said 'okay' and threw it to him and grabbed for an overcoat. I was just getting into it when this same fellow tossed the shirt back to me and said, 'No, it's not mine, I guess it must be yours all right.' Later when I was sitting in the float it struck me as funny that we would argue about a shirt at a time like that."

"I was in the forward mess and the bow of the ship already was lying over on one side. I had hooked my life belt over a rail on the side of the ship and it was now dangling over my head."

"I climbed up somehow or other and grabbed it and pulled it over my overcoat, not stopping to fasten either of them and made for the gangway to the escape hatch."

"It's funny the things you'll do under stress. I remember thinking that I wasn't going outside without my overcoat and that's why I grabbed for it. As I reached the gangway the boat stood up on end. Luckily I had my arm hooked around the rail behind me and all the straps that were still in the mess were thrown down the ship with terrific force and I guess none of them got out. Clothes, boots, and I don't know what odds and ends came raining down on my head but I still hung on."

"When I finally got up to the escape hatch the water was just beginning to surge in the doors. I'd been away for a while and I was trapped. As it was the water just kind of engulfed me and started to swim back to the float. I was only about 20 feet from the door when it went down and I wondered if I'd be sucked under by the drag, but I didn't feel a thing."

"He said the bow of the ship sank only 90 seconds after the torpedo split the Valleyfield in two."

INCHES OF OIL
The icy water seemed to have inches of oil on it and was littered with wreckage, debris, lifebelts and a "lot of lumber."

He hit out for a Carley float about 80 feet away and even before he reached it he was paralyzed with cold and had to be helped onto the float. There were eight men on his raft which was riding about a foot under the water and they spent an hour and a half sitting in the water which was only one degree above freezing.

"Finally the Giffard came by and three lines to us which we tried to make fast to. Our fellows didn't hold though and the line went awry. One of my chums hung on to the lines and was pulled by himself about the Giffard, but they couldn't make it."

"One of the men made it to another float but the second dropped from his line and was dragged under by the proper action of the Giffard passed him."

"We had the only hearded seaman to survive on our float," he said. "I've heard since that they didn't hold though and the line went awry. One of my chums hung on to the lines and was pulled by himself about the Giffard, but they couldn't make it."

CORVETTE IN OFFING
The seaman told of their rescue by a seaboat from the corvette which was pushed through the ice and took them to the Giffard which had stopped about a half a mile away and was waiting for survivors off the two floats which had been tied together.

"When we saw the seaboat approaching we started shouting for it to come and pick us up and the corvette pulled back for us to 'shut up, that's just what we're doing'."

Telegraphist Snider said he did not see any of the Edmonton men in the water and could say what had happened to them.

La. Conde D. T. English, of Italy, skipper of the ship who slipped through the lifebelt and disappeared in the water just as rescue was at hand was "one of the best guys I ever saw."

"The crew of the Giffard were sure swell to us. They did everything they could to make us comfortable. None of us could get aboard by ourselves and the five flames came down and carried us up the life net to the deck."

Landing at a Newfoundland port the survivors were hospitalized. Telegraphist Snider spent 10 days there, receiving treatment for immersion foot and having his skin attended to.

"These medical men sure know what they're doing," he said. "A couple of years ago I probably would have lost both feet, they were so badly frozen."

BOON HERE
Born in Edmonton, Telegraphist Snider attended McCauley and Alex Taylor schools and Alberta College. Prior to enlisting he was employed by the provincial treasury branch.

He enlisted in the R.C.N.V.R. in April, 1942, and trained at R.N.C.B. Nonchue here and at St. Hyacinthe, Que. For a time he was stationed at the west coast and went to the eastern port last year.

He was on convoy duty for some time aboard the corvette Butcheco before joining the crew of H.M.C.S. Valleyfield when it was commissioned December 1943.

The Valleyfield was the first Canadian ship sunk and was the first Canadian ship to be sunk in duty since the torpedoing of the St. Croix last September.

marshes and rolling green hills leading to Rome were bound to have a tremendous effect on the course and duration of the entire war.

Any major defeat inflicted on the Nazis in Italy, one official said, "makes the second front" success a much easier proposition."

Most sources believed German resistance would be less than stubborn rear guard resistance if they can keep their remaining escape routes open.

However, he fears the possibility of the majority of 10 divisions on the main beachhead unless he moves rapidly because of the threat to his escape routes from the beachhead forces and American troops moving into the evacuated area.

CAN'T BE REINFORCED
That loss would mean not only relinquishing Rome, but probably a quick retirement to the Po valley or even the Alpine foothills because the German high command cannot spare any reinforcements from its armies massed in the west and east to meet other allied onslaughts.

The early fall of Rome appeared inevitable because of the lack of natural obstacles between the beachhead and the capital. However, the Allies may delay an immediate march on Rome in favor of a push to the northeast in an attempt to cut Via Cassia and trap Nazi forces holding out to the southeast.

DIV said German troops evacuated the coastal sector between the beachhead and Terracina "in the course of heavy fighting."

Artillery Program Expanded by U.S.
WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—A tremendous increase in the heavy artillery program has been ordered by the United States army on the Italian front, officials disclosed last night.

For the weapons of 155 millimetre and greater, ammunition requirements have been stepped up an average of 400 to 500 per cent, with the increase for some sizes running as high as 1,000 per cent above current schedules.

The production schedules for the weapons themselves have been advanced correspondingly, with emphasis on the 155 gun or "Long Tom," the eight-inch gun and the 240 millimetre weapon.

Instituted within the last few weeks, the ammunition program alone represents a dollar-volume increase of approximately $750,000,000 for the balance of 1944 and 1945.

As a result of the sinking and 121 are missing, including several Edmonton and district men.

San Diego, Calif., May 25 (AP)—Harold Bell Wright, who left the pulp to become one of the United States' famed fiction writers, died yesterday in La Jolla, Calif., hospital. He was 72.

Wright became ill about two weeks ago and entered the hospital last week. Death was attributed to bronchial pneumonia.

Only last month he sold his $20,000 ranch home, known as "Quiet Hills Farm," near Escondido, 30 miles northeast of here, and moved to San Diego. His most widely read novel, "The Winning of Barbara Worth," and "The Shepherd of the Hills," each reached the million mark in sales.

The actual scene of the junction was revealed to have been near Lake Giffard. The main Fifth Army columns advanced nearly 12 miles along the flooded coastal highway through the Pontine marshes from San Felice, at the tip of a peninsula 10 miles southwest of Terracina, while beachhead patrols pushed out three miles from their perimeter.

now - VITAMIC RUBBER

FIRESTONE'S GREATEST CONTRIBUTION TO LONG TIRE LIFE AND MILEAGE

Firestone, pioneers of the balloon and high-speed tires, now make another contribution to advanced motoring . . . VITAMIC RUBBER . . . for longer tire life and mileage.

It is a well-known fact that adding small amounts of metals, such as chromium and tungsten, to steel greatly increases the strength and durability of the alloy produced.

In a similar manner, it has been found by Firestone research that the intimate mixing with rubber of small amounts of a new scientific discovery, "Vitalin," imparts long-sought properties to the rubber.

As in the alloy steel, the new rubber compound . . . VITAMIC RUBBER . . . is greatly improved in strength, wear-ability, and resistance to heat and aging.

All Firestone tires are now made with Vitamatic Rubber. This added extra value, together with Gum-Dipping and Safety Locked Cords, is all the more reason why you should insist on Firestone tires when you obtain a Tire Ration Permit.

WARNING

In these days of life shortages, it may be suggested to you that "all tires are alike now that they are built of synthetic rubber."

Tires are not now and never were alike—even when they were all made of natural rubber. However, now there is no need to be confused . . . demand Firestone tires made of VITAMIC RUBBER and know you are getting the most for your money.

New Orleans Club Boasts of Seven Home Town Boys

NEW YORK, May 25.—A record which no other club in organized baseball can boast is claimed by the New Orleans Pelicans. Manager Freese Thompson has seven home town boys on his roster, which makes his club a truly representative one. Left-handed Jesse Davis and Fay Donnelly are the only holdovers from the 1943 array. It is possible to find an infield composed entirely of New Orleans products.

All the native players are not of Southern Association caliber as measured by pre-war standards, but Dana won 22 games while losing 7 last trip to lead the league's pitchers. And Outfielder Bill Shepherd has been swinging from one club to another without making any headway until signed by New Orleans. There sympathetic editors helped him find himself.

New Orleans fans have one of the finest high school sports in the land. The American Legion junior series annually draws more teams than are attracted in any other city of the same size.

Larry Gilbert, who broke a 21-year tenure with the Pelicans in 1933, led this trend when he went to New Orleans in 1937.

Manager Gilbert started the year-in and year-out appearance of New Orleans talent on the local scene. Since 1917 a total of 33 home town boys have worn the Pelican uniform.

At times there were two on the club, sometimes three and once there were four, but this season's number is the all-time high. The Pelicans bugged a remarkable minor league pitcher, Joe Martin, who was the starting first baseman for the Pelicans in 1937.

Joe Sullivan has been named pitcher for the Pelicans in their 1944 debut, while George Trand, who pitched for the Pelicans in 1937, will be the mound choice for Yanks, with Al Goodrich as receiver.

To Make Bid For Title

Long-Legged Charley Parker Best Sprinter Since Owens

BY WILBUR MARTIN

SAN ANTONIO, May 25.—A tow-headed San Antonio schoolboy will make a robust bid for the title of world's fastest human in the National A.A.U. Track and Field Championships at Randall's Island Stadium, New York, June 17-18.

Long-legged Charley Parker, greatest prep sprinter since the immortal Jesse Owens, for three years has shaded the time of the nation's best college and high school competitors.

Young Parker for the first time in his career has been invited to get a crack at the country's finest Harold Davis of Salinas and the defending champion, 17, Jimmy O'Reilly, who has done 9.5 this spring. Claude Young of Illinois and the rest.

An appendectomy kept him from making the trip a year ago. Parker's record for the last three years is the most amazing since Owens' heyday. The Thomas Jefferson high lad holds or shares 32 records, is unbeaten in 49 consecutive races. He was only 14 when he won the 100-yard dash as a member of the Thomas Jefferson team, didn't really get going until he was 16.

Parker holds the 100 and 220-yard records for every meet in which he has participated. Only a quick of nature prevented his making the national record in the 100-yard dash. Last year he stepped the 220 in 29.4 seconds.

One of the biggest handicaps he has had in racing down the track is his long legs. He has been called "Long Legs" by his competitors. He usually runs just long enough to prevail. In the recent Texas state meet, however, he opened up, finished five yards in front in the 100, 15, 22, with times of 9.8 and 20.7.

LEGS ARE EXTREMELY LONG. Because, like Charley Paddock, a slow start handicaps him in the shorter dash, his coach, Barlowe, says the long one is best suited for Parker. Bones Irvin and coach Chas. Littlefield of the University of Texas believe Parker would make an excellent quarter-mile runner. He negotiated the distance in 52.3 seconds striding all the way on his one long leg.

Although he stands no more than five feet and weighs only 148 pounds, Parker has extremely long legs. He negotiated the distance in 52.3 seconds striding all the way on his one long leg.

The youngster is shaded only by the Alamo in the hearts of the natives.

TORONTO, May 25.—(CP)—The British Columbia game commission has approved the federal government with a proposal to ration the available quantity of ammunition to sportsmen.

Although he stands no more than five feet and weighs only 148 pounds, Parker has extremely long legs. He negotiated the distance in 52.3 seconds striding all the way on his one long leg.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Philandering Husband
Is Hardest Problem

Every Woman Must Find Solution Herself Because No Other Person Knows Just How Much She Values Man

There is no other question as to what she shall do with philandering husbands. Shall they forgive them, or divorce them? Shall they send them packing, or let the fat cat off for them? Shall they tell them when they swear that they will never do it again, or when they man again, or know in their hearts that they will never be able to resist a pretty girl with a come-hither look in her eyes?

Naturally it is a problem that every woman must solve for herself and with which no outsider can interfere. For husbands are a purely personal possession and what one is worth to his wife depends not upon what he is, but upon the value she puts upon him. Furthermore, what complicates the situation is that many men, aside from having incurable cases of wandering feet, are also husbands. They are good providers. Devoted fathers. Pleasant to live with, and treat their wives like Lady Loves, instead of household conveniences.

HOLD EVERYTHING

"Capt. Potts used to command a PT boat!"

Any woman would hate to give up a husband, even when she knows he was untrue to her, and so she balances his charms against her wife's jealousy, against her outraged dignity, her pride that he has humiliated himself in that, against the tears she shed when she heard the break she has endured, she does not know what to do—whether she will be better off with him, or without him.

DECISION

Her decision depends upon so many things. Upon the kind of woman she is herself. Upon how much she loves her erring mate. If he is the whole of life to her, she will be happier being near him, having a little of his time and attention, a careless kiss, a kind word now and then, than she would be if entirely separated from him. But to make this solution of her problem a success she must have the philosophy to accept the situation and carry on as if her husband were really a good man.

Then there are the children, who are the victims of every wretched home. A mother should think long and prayerfully before she averages her own wrongs at the price of her children's well-being. For even a bad father is better than no father at all. But a wife makes her sacrifice in vain unless she has enough self-control to live in peace with her husband, for nothing upsets the morale of children as to be brought up in a home in which the parents fight like cats and dogs.

And before a woman buys a ticket to Reno she should consider the cost of it in dollars and cents. A good home, a nice car, pretty clothes, an assured place in society are a consolation prize even for a flirtatious husband. Many a woman who gives him up for a little grudging alimony runs her bargain.

The truth is that divorce is no cure-all for unhappy marriages. Unless out of ten who are divorced, you get them regret it, for they find they have only jumped out of the frying pan into the fire.

"Your slip is showing, Harry!"

McKenney
On Bridge

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority

Slam bidding is still the big problem in bridge. On one of the boards of the second session of the Masters Invitational tournament, only two pairs out of nine reached a slam.

One pair tried to play the hand at six no trump, and interestingly enough, the contract cannot be made even if both finesses work. It is still only 11 tricks—five clubs, two diamonds, two hearts and two spades.

Battalion of Westerners
Fights Through Savage Day
Against Determined Nazis

By DOUG HOWE

WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS IN ITALY, May 25.—(CP)—This story concerns headquarters of a western Canadian battalion that in one savage day fought through pill-boxes, anti-tank positions, mines, machine-guns, snipers and Germans strung across the Liri valley and called the Hitler line.

The Canadians smashed the Hitler line Tuesday. History will call it a glorious feat.

Europe's Underground Gets Concise "Spy Instructions"

By WES GALLAGHER

LONDON, May 25.—(AP)—The Allied invasion commander, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, last night sought to turn Europe's restless millions into a vast espionage force to support the impending Allied blow from the west, with the broadcast of new sets of concise spy instructions to the European underground.

A short form of the report, which the people are asked to memorize, included the essential headings of when, what and how many, where and in what direction and at what speed and anything special noted concerning the enemy's movements.

In an earlier broadcast yesterday the Allies had adopted a firm military approach in summoning French patriots to get ready for their role when D-Day dawned.

The BBC told French patriots that instructions would be given to them regularly, and added "it is no longer a question of voluntary service. It is now an order to you."

Good Reception
Given Churchill
Speech by Press

LONDON, May 25.—(CP)—British morning papers today gave Prime Minister Churchill's foreign-policy speech a good reception but some felt he was falling under the influence of President Roosevelt in refusing to recognize the French National Committee.

Sharpest criticism of the Anglo-American attitude toward Gen. Charles de Gaulle was voiced by the influential Manchester Guardian which said "it is unjustified by the evidence and is in itself politically dangerous."

HEART "NOT IN IT"

"It is hard to believe that Mr. Churchill's heart was in the labored phrases with which he attempted to justify our refusal to recognize the French National Committee as a provisional government of France," The Guardian said.

"He at least knows something of the history of European revolution and can only suppose that the free press contrast between the men of Algeria and of the Resistance and those other Allied governments of perfect and unbroken continuity was inspired from Washington."

The London Daily Mail, while praising Mr. Churchill's address as a "brilliant survey," said "it is hard to see how recognition of his (de Gaulle's) committee as a provisional administration would prejudice any subsequent wishes of the French people."

The Daily Express said no one could say the prime minister lacks a policy and added: "It is typically British in that it makes allowance for great men in our own ideas and those of other people."

NEW YORK, May 25.—(AP)—The Berlin radio said today the speech of Prime Minister Churchill before the House of Commons "has caused particular interest in the Wilhelmstrasse inasmuch as it is tantamount to an admission the Empire Conference had been a failure."

The broadcast asserted that Mr. Churchill, "who at the opening of the conferring by the British Empire and Commonwealth, has indirectly confessed that his strenuous efforts to bring about closer co-operation had failed since he did not touch on this problem but confined himself to the significant statement that the Empire and the Commonwealth ought to join other states in a major organization."

Body of Miner
Found in River

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin DRUMHILLER, May 25.—(The mysterious disappearance of Daniel Agnew, New Castle miner, who faded out of sight on November 22 last, was solved here Wednesday afternoon. His body was found by two boys who were fishing in shallow water opposite the Hygrade mine.

The night of his disappearance, the deceased had been in Drumheller. He took a taxi home and was left at the door of his small shop. When he did not return out to work for several days police officers of the New Castle local union began making inquiries, but no trace could be found of the man.

On Wednesday when the body was taken from the river it was beyond recognition but was identified by clothing, registration card and fingerprints.

Despite the fact the body had been in the water for six months, it was found only a mile from where it was feared the miner had fallen in. Agnew was 30 years of age, single and a native of Denmark. He has no known relatives in this country.

Following investigation Coroner Dr. J. W. Nelson attributed death to accidental drowning, with an inquest not necessary.
